

Our Work in 2025

More than just a roof...

Message from our CEO

This year has continued to present significant challenges for the people we support and for the wider communities in which we work. The ongoing cost of living crisis has placed increasing pressure on our tenants, many of whom are facing rising household costs, financial insecurity, and uncertainty about the future. At the same time, unemployment and barriers to sustainable employment opportunities have continued to affect many individuals, impacting well-being, confidence, and long-term stability.

Demand for our supported housing services has remained consistently high throughout the year. We have seen increasing numbers of people requiring safe accommodation, practical support, and guidance to help them rebuild their lives and move towards greater independence. This sustained demand highlights both the importance of our work and the continuing need for accessible, person-centred support services within our communities.

In the face of these pressures, our staff team has shown exceptional dedication, resilience, and compassion. Their commitment to supporting tenants through difficult circumstances has been central to the positive outcomes achieved across the organisation. Every day, staff have gone above and beyond to provide encouragement, practical assistance, and opportunities that enable people to make meaningful progress in their lives.

We are proud of the achievements made this year. Through the collective efforts of our staff, partners, and tenants, many individuals have been supported to improve their well-being, develop independent living skills, access training and employment opportunities, and move towards more secure and positive futures. These outcomes reflect not only the determination of those we support, but also the strength of our values and our continued commitment to delivering high-quality supported housing services.

As we look ahead, we remain committed to responding to the growing needs within our communities, strengthening the support we provide, and ensuring that every person who engages with our services is treated with dignity, respect, and hope.

Case Study

Susan

Susan was referred to Community Campus following an unsettled period of sleeping on her friend's sofa. Susan became homeless after a breakdown in the relationship with her mum. Susan engaged with her support worker and learned to budget her income to pay gas, electric, and water. She also learned to keep her home clean and tidy. Susan also made friends with her neighbour who was a similar age and gained a lasting positive friendship. By engaging with support Susan was able to develop life skills and build her confidence to manage her own tenancy. Susan was accepted for a flat with Thirteen and signed a starter tenancy which would become a permanent home.

Susan

"If it wasn't for Community Campus and their staff I'd still be homeless, now I have hope for the future."

Steve

Steve had been living in hostel accommodation for several months after being released from prison when he was referred to Community Campus. Steve had been in and out of prison for 27 years and had no experience of living in the community and managing a tenancy. Jodie his support worker met regularly with Steve to gain his trust and they developed a good working relationship. Steve engaged well and felt comfortable to discuss his support needs. Steve learned valuable life skills including keeping his home clean, paying his bills on time and being selective with visitors to his flat. When Steve lost his mum, he felt confident to ask Jodie for support with contacting funeral services and choosing a suit for the funeral. As a result of his engagement Steve was offered a long term supported tenancy with Community Campus to enable him to have a stable home, continue to receive support to maintain his life and prevent him from going back to prison.

Steve

"Community Campus has been there for me when others haven't and I feel confident that I will not return to prison."

Case Study

Jane - No longer has social services involvement and is maintaining a tenancy

Jane came to Community Campus in April 2024 after finding herself and her children homeless due to fleeing domestic violence. When Jane came to CC87 she had very low self-esteem and confidence, not trusting anyone including professionals. We spent a lot of the support working on building these between ourselves and Jane. Initially she struggled a lot and was still in a relationship with her partner and was binge drinking/drug taking on weekends. This all led eventually to the children being removed. With heavy involvement from social services she made the decision to allow for her children to live with family members. We continued to support her throughout the court process and acting as advocate at times. Jane struggled with identifying what a healthy relationship was and this was one of the things we focused on to help her move past the domestic abuse relationship. She has worked hard on gaining trust, seeing her children-initially supervised and rebuilding her relationship with her children. Jane is now in the position where she feels safe and settled and that she will be able to take care of her children again and she is now in contact with solicitors to regain parental responsibility and full time care of her children. Her confidence has grown a lot and she has now been in a stable healthy relationship for around one year and she has been going to our regular woodturning sessions which she has found very therapeutic and allowed her to gain new skills.

Jane

"I have been in supported accommodation for 2 years. I have come a long way in that time. Thanks for all the support I have had and I love how Gill is only a call away if I need any extra support."

Case Study

John - Move to Independent Living

John came to Community Campus on 23 October 2024 after spending around 18 years in various temporary/supported housing properties. He had led a very chaotic life and had experienced tenancy breakdown many times. John has struggled with poor mental health for many years and as a result of this was unable to take care of himself and his home without any help from professionals. He was a long-term drug user which as-is often the case led to a lengthy history of police convictions and periods of time in prison. He also experienced daily fits due to the entrenched drug use, which led to numerous hospital admissions.

Since coming to CC87, John has sustained his treatment with START (Hartlepool's Drug Recovery Service) and has significantly reduced his drug use, with long periods of no use at all, resulting in the number of fits reducing. Initially John required lots of support with paying his bills on time and budgeting enough money to enable him to go shopping on a weekly basis initially with support. Eventually he was able to take control of his finances successfully independently of the service. When it was agreed with John that he was at a point to move on to permanent accommodation we assisted him to register on Tees Valley Home Finder and he was eventually successful in bidding for a one bedroomed flat. We continued to provide a period of transitional support helping him to set up his tenancy and utilities ensuring everything is in place before the service is ended although he is aware that he can seek our assistance at any time in the future.

John

"Brilliant service, excellent support from Community Campus. Gill has been there from start to end of tenancy."

Helping Others

One Community Link

During 2025 we have offered advice and support to One Community Link in Stockton who want to help people who have received their right to remain but may face imminent homelessness due to having to leave their accommodation. We are working with them to see how they could provide some type of accommodation in these circumstances alongside the issues and responsibilities as a landlord.

Halo Project

We worked with the Halo Project in Middlesbrough to see if there were any ways they could maximise their rent levels, after analysis and consultation it was agreed that their rent levels were at the maximum available.

Centre for Social Justice

We continue to be involved with the CSJ ensuring our tenants are involved in having their voices heard when developing policy reform - we are taking part in the discussions about NEETS and the high levels of youth unemployment in the North East - the highest in the country.

Carlisle Key

Our friends from Carlisle Key are moving from strength to strength, becoming involved in the Homeless Collective Campaigning for a dedicated youth chapter in the Government's Youth Homelessness Strategy. They have new trustees and Diane is doing a great job in her new role as CEO.

Anekal Read Centre - India

We are committed to continue our support of the Anekal Read Center in Bangalore and recently sent a small donation to help with their ongoing work with the tribal communities in Karnataka and Tamil Nadu. They are working with these communities developing anti child labour initiatives and eradicating child marriage.

Our Plans for the Future

As we look ahead, we remain committed to strengthening and developing our services to meet the growing and changing needs of the people we support. The continuing pressures created by the cost of living crisis, limited housing availability, and increasing demand for support accommodation reinforce the importance of long-term planning and sustainable growth.

A key priority for the coming years will be improving the energy efficiency of our properties and increasing EPC ratings across our housing portfolio. By investing in our buildings, we aim to reduce energy costs for our tenants and create warmer, safer, and more sustainable homes.

We also recognise the increasing challenges our tenants face when moving on from supported housing. The shortage of suitable affordable accommodation, together with the rising costs within the private rented sector, continues to create significant barriers to independence. In response, we are committed to exploring opportunities to develop additional move-on accommodation that provides stable, affordable housing options and supports successful long-term outcomes for tenants.

Our staff remain at the heart of everything we do. Retaining and supporting a skilled, motivated, and compassionate workforce will continue to be essential to delivering high-quality services. We are committed to investing in staff wellbeing, development, and progression, while maintaining the positive culture and values that define our organisation. We believe that by supporting our people, we strengthen our ability to support others.

While challenges remain, we are confident in the resilience of our organisation and optimistic about the future. By continuing to work collaboratively with tenants, staff, partners, and stakeholders, we will build on the achievements of this year and continue to provide services that create positive and lasting change within our communities.
